

Fashionable Functions and Interesting Incidents

By Ann Bradford Sedberry Phone Number 258

WITH the coming of real autumn weather, not only have the various clubs resumed meeting, but numerous delightful parties are being given. On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. L. F. Baskin complimented her mother, Mrs. Cox, of Columbus, with a large and prettily planned rook party. Wednesday morning Mrs. Wallace, of New Orleans, was the honoree at a lovely rook party when her hostess, Mrs. Billie Pannell, entertained eight tables of players. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Baskin will give a bridge party. Next week Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jagoe will have as their guest Allen Cox, of Baldwin; and Mrs. Ashton Toomer, of Houston, with her house guest, Mrs. A. B. Bonham, of Ely, Nevada, will arrive Wednesday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sedberry. Several pretty affairs being planned for these three attractive visitors.

Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. H. Latimer at her pretty new home on Main St. There were nineteen members present and the business session was presided over by the efficient new president, Mrs. Howard Murphree. Mrs. E. D. Elias and Mrs. B. D. Hansell were elected delegates to the District Federation meeting which will be held in Pontotoc next Tuesday. A cordial invitation to the club as a whole has been extended by the Twentieth Century Club of Pontotoc, the hostess club, and a number of Okolona club women are planning to attend.

The subject for the afternoon was the play "Abraham Lincoln" by Drinkwater, and the leader, Mrs. Garrison, occupied the chair during the program. Mrs. Garrison, in a charming and tactful manner brought out the fact that, while the play is very strong and worthy to be studied, Abraham Lincoln is not, in the eyes of Southern people, an ideal type of manhood. Mrs. E. H. Cunningham gave an interesting biography of the author, while Mrs. B. D. Hansell's resume of the play was very much enjoyed. Miss Lucile Neubert portrayed the Character Delineation of Mrs. Lincoln and the Cabinet Members, and Mrs. E. D. Elias discussed the Dramatic Interest of Lincoln's Character. Every number of the program was carefully prepared and attractively rendered.

Mrs. Latimer served a delicious plate luncheon with cranberry ice and hot home made rolls.

Mrs. Baskin Entertains

Mrs. L. F. Baskin, who has as her house guest her mother, Mrs. Cox, of Columbus, Miss., entertained with a rook party on Saturday afternoon at her home on Jefferson Street. The seven tables for the players were placed in the spacious living room and dining room and a number of games were enjoyed. The high score prize, two lovely hand made handkerchiefs, was captured by Mrs. Thomas East, of Sanford, Florida, who is the attractive guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. The consolation fell to Mrs. W. R. Gunn; and Mrs. Baskin presented to her charming mother, two dainty handkerchiefs.

The hostess was assisted by her lovely little daughter, Mary Featherston Baskin, and Mrs. Eric Sedberry in serving a tempting salad course with apricot ice.

Mrs. Baskin will entertain at bridge on Thursday afternoon.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets

Annual Roll Call Day was observed by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church on Monday afternoon when a delightful meeting was held at the church.

The president, Mrs. H. C. Adams, presided over the business session, and then turned the meeting over to Circle No. 4 which is composed of nine attractive young girls. Miss Linda Milligan acted as chairman presiding throughout the program. The devotionals were conducted by Miss Daisy Henson; and the program, which was in the form of a Korean Newspaper, was carried out as follows: Editorials, Miss Mattie Sue Johnson; Current News, Miss Virginia Shelton; Contributors' Column, Miss Mary Shelton; Society, Miss Zella Williams; Medical Work, Miss Leta Ellis; Want Ads, Miss Dorothy Henson; "Do you want us to quit?", Apoloinette King. At the conclusion of this unusually clever and interesting program, Circle No. 2, of which Mrs. J. A. Rutledge is chairman, served delicious chicken salad and coffee in the church parlors.

Tsianina Music Club

Miss Henrietta Beaty was hostess of the Tsianina Music Club on Wednesday afternoon of last week. This was the first meeting of the club year. During the brief business session the new president, Mrs. F. M. Elliott, in a few well chosen words, thanked the club for the honor they had bestowed upon her by having made her president, and asked their co-operation that this might be made one of the most profitable years in the club's history. During a previous business meeting, it was decided that this be strictly a study club, therefore in the future there will be no social hour connected with the meetings, however, it is the club's intention to give three public entertainments during the year.

The president, Mrs. Elliott, was leader for the afternoon and an interesting program on "The Folk Music of Germany" was rendered. Reporter.

Thursday Evening Bridge Club

Mrs. A. F. Wicks was hostess of the Thursday Evening Bridge Club last week at her lovely suburban home "Myrtle Grove". Only club members were present; and Mrs. A. L. Jagoe made highest score among the ladies and was awarded a lovely set of card table numbers while Mr. Luther Abernethy captured the gentleman's prize, three handkerchiefs. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Play for American Legion

The members of the Davis-Whiteside Post American Legion with Mr. J. T. McKinley as Commander, are enthusiastically planning for the play, "The Microbe of Love", which will be given at the school auditorium Friday evening, November third. Mrs. A. L. Jagoe and Mrs. Eric Sedberry are selecting the characters, and the director is expected within a few days.

FRIDAY
CONWAY TEARLE

"SHADOWS OF THE SEA"

An adventure story written by Frank Ducey. Love and romance play an important part in the picture but the outstanding feature of the production is the rapid-fire action that is noticed from the first scene to the last. Mr. Tearle, in the role of a young soldier of fortune whose principal occupation is the foiling of maritime laws, is said to enact one of the best roles of his eventful career.

WAS SHE PROPOSING?

"William Butler Yeats," said an editor, "is undoubtedly the greatest living poet, yet he admits that the poetry only brings him in $150 a year. He once told me a rather bitter story about this fact. He said that a young lady, on coming away from a palmist's, observed: 'That palmist must have taken me for an heiress.' 'Yes?' How so?" her companion asked.

"He prophesied," said the young lady, "that I'd marry a poet and live happy ever after."

LOOKING FORWARD

"What in the world are you staring at that married couple so intently for?" asked one young lady of another on the train.

"Oh!" said the other girl with a start and a sigh. "It's so natural for us girls to contemplate matrimony, you know."—Boston Evening Transcript.
